PRINCIPLES GOVERNING THE LOUNGE AND BLOCK HOUSING
REVIEW AND RENEWAL PROCESS FOR CAMPUS
ORGANIZATIONS

• All campus organizations have a responsibility to the University community at large as well as to the residential community which their leased lounges and/or housing blocks are situated to use such space and conduct their activities in a socially responsible manner. In other words, all campus organizations which lease lounge space and/or reside in block housing must recognize their obligations as members of a broad University community.

• Because Wake Forest University is an intellectually, culturally, and socially purposeful community, lounge space and/or block housing are initially awarded to an organization based on an assessment by the Committee on Student Life of the organization’s past and potential contributions to these purposes.

• Lounge space and block housing allocations are subject to periodic review by the Committee on Student Life, and such reviews are based on an assessment of the organization’s past and potential contributions to the intellectual, cultural, and social purposes of the University community.

All organizations occupying a leased lounge and/or block housing are subject to the triennial spring review by the Committee on Student Life. This review would cover the three-year period ending with the spring semester in which the review occurs. Evaluation criteria include group academic performance and judicial history, facility care and maintenance, fiscal responsibility, contributions to the residence hall community, student development and community service contributions, and space utilization. (See separate Lounge and Block Housing Review and Renewal Process).

• While campus organizations are subject to periodic review with respect to lounge lease renewal and/or block housing assignment, the Committee on Student Life and the Office of Residence Life and Housing have the right at any time to undertake a review of an organization and, based on the results of the review, to revoke its lounge lease and/or reassign its block housing.
